Managing global risk with Allianz Trade Specialty Credit solutions

A globalized world means globalized risk. The increasing complexity of global trade and finance is often accompanied by changes in the types and levels of risk, sometimes including sudden political risk. These evolving risks can impact financial institutions and transactions as well as trade and investment with local or foreign partners.

Financial institutions, banks, investors and businesses operating internationally, or intending to do so, can take advantage of Allianz Trade's unrivalled risk analysis experience and expertise to safeguard their assets and ensure compliance with regulatory, financial and partner requirements.

Allianz Trade offers a range of products – Specialty Credit solutions – which are designed with the flexibility to meet these changing needs.
